We have to lament the loss of Borie. He passed away to private life yesterday. His health was failing, and his personal affairs pressing. But Borie, though gone far from our gaze, will live forever in the memory of politicians. He seems to have been one of the great successes of General Grant in discharging the grave duties of the Presidency, and Pennsylvania will no doubt cherish him as one of her numerous favorite sons.

sylvania will no doubt cherish him as one of her numerous favorite sons.

There is consolation in the fitness of the successor of Borie. The successor is not a Pennsylvanian, but a citizen of the illustrious State of New Jersey. If we could have had our preference outside the great State of Pennsylvania we think we would state of Pennsylvania, we think we we haue preferred a gentleman from Dela-ware, a commonwealth whose distinction ware, a commonwealth whose distinction it is to be not only one of the smallest States in the Union, but in some respects, the oldest state in the world.

Our new Cabinet officer is named—well his name is variously spelled in the dispatches thus: Robinson, Robeson, Robison. No matter how it is spelled just now, it will presently be familiar in all the nations of the earth. There was, it will be remembered, on the memorable acquiring the correct orthography of the celebrated name of Borie. The name was spelled every way from Bore to Boreas, and even Boreals. Now there is not a child ten years of age in attendance upon our economical common schools, who could not spell and define the name cor-

If Borie had remained in office four years, as Father Welles did, up to the time of the second inauguration of Lincoln, no Vice President being inauguration of the president being inauguration of the president would have ed, even if tolerably drunk, would have inquired, as Andrew Johnson was under he necessity of doing in parenthesis. What's the name of the Secretary of the Indeed. Borie has already grayname, as with a pen, upon the rock of ages.

Our distinguished friend, whose name

"He has always been a prominent member of the Union League and Sani-tary Commission, and took an active part in Jersey politics."
We are satisfied that our friend is sound, and that he knows as much of the duties of Secretary of the Navy as either Welles or Borie did when they were appointed to that office.

The Degradation of White Mechanics

The Degradation of White Mechanics.

The hardest blow white labor has yet received has been the compulsory introduction into the Washington Navy Yard of negro carpenters to work with the white carpenters there. The whites have to submit or lose their places,

Degradation, we say—because, this common workshop business, unlike voting, reaches the house, the home, the family, socieky, companionship—every-

ting, reaches the house, the home, the family, society, companionship—everything, in fate and brings the white workingman that addown to the negro level. It equals that a possible, despite the edit of the Almighty, who created differ traces of men, the white man and the negro in everything but color and brain; and it prepares the way, in common tenement houses, for amalgamation, and the consequent degradation of marriage and intermarriage, as in Spanash America, Jamaica, Hayti and elsewhere, and it makes another country of ours—not the country now of the white European man, but of the African black man, too.

There was no need of this last blow against the white laborer, to equalize, politically, the negro with the white man—for the public lands are open to the negro as well as to the white man, and negro as well as to the white man, and the negro car have a free homestead as well as the white man. The public lands are his as well as ours. Besides, there are certain working businesses left almost exclusively to the negro—in which the white man hardly interferes with him—while here, now, the Government steps in and forces the negro among the carpenters, the masons, printers, etc., of the land.

Fire—Severe Loss—Partly Insured.

Nashville, 27.—About half past one o'clock this morning a fire was discovered in the second story of Hicks & Houston's china store, on the northwest corner of Public Square. It progressed rapidly notwithstanding the most active efforts of the firemen, and soon all the stores comprising Hicks' were in flames. The block was destroyed. Nothing is left of it but a portion of the walls. Hicks & Houston lost almost all their large stock of china and other goods. Craighead, Breast & Gibson, hardware dealers, saved a small portion of their stock.

Turman, Green & Co., wholesale dry goods merchants, were more fortunate, having removed a considerable portion of their goods. These were all wholesale houses, and the block of buildings, four stories high, was one of the handsomesf in Nashville. Mr. Hicks, proprietor of the block, has insurance on it to the amount of $25,000; Hicks & Houston are insured on their stock for $3,000; Craighead, Breast & Gibson for $4,500, and Turman, Green & Co., $4,000. Water Works and Sewerage. These improvements will be consid Council at their meeting tonight, and it is highly important, in view of the large expense they will involve, that both their character and cost should be carefully estimated before they are entered upon, lest we get into the condition of the man who built his house upon a sandy foundation. When these improvements are determined upon, they should be adapted to the necessities of the city when its population shall have been increased three or four fold, for we have an abiding faith that Indianapolis will reach those proportions in a very few years. Sewerage and water works on a permanent and adequate basis will cost not less than one million of dollars. and an expenditure of that magnitude tered upon. If the improvements, when completed, should not prove to be what s needed or was expected they would be, the cost will be a burden upon the city, but if they should answer the purposes for which they were intended, the advantages or benefits in convenience, health and protection from fires, will be ample empensation for the outlay.

No system should be determined upon until there has been a thorough investigation of the whole subject. Not a sewer should be constructed, until competent and experienced engineers have decided upon a general system for the entire city, so that the sections, that may be built from time to time, can be adapted to the general plan. If sewers are conted before a general system is arranged, it may occasion their reconstruc tion, thus adding to the inconvenience

How many of our citizens know wha is needed for ample underground drainage and a permanent and adequate supply of water for all purposes? Is there one who can give a satisfactory or intelligent answer to the question? think it would be difficult to find one If such be the case, is it wise to rush pell well into authorizing improvements without careful preinvestigation? Some members of the Council are enthuisastic favor of the Holly system of Water works. What is known about that plan here, unless it be information derived from puffs that read very much like patent medicine advertisements, and the statements of interested parties? Water works upon that system are being constructed at Peoria, Illinois. The National Democrat, a paper published in that city, does not n to have a very favorable opinion of that squirt-gun invention. In a late number of that paper we find the following notice of the Holly plan.

"The Jacksonville folks are felicitating themselves with the idea that they have done a big thing by voting to issue bonds for water works to the amount of $150,-000, and are already chuckling over the prospect of "useful" works for that sum. We congratulate them on their disposi-tions, which allow them to jubilate so easily. They will sing another song pres-ently when they have waded into water works sufficiently to make them useful. Up here, we know something about water that feeble expedient. The intent of vorks.

"This is how we know it. We got leave the constitution as to the meaning "This is how we know it. We got leave to raise $300,000 to build water works. Those who have had the turning of the gauge cocks and the money, said that would be "oceans" to construct the water works. So the bonds were issued. The works were commenced. The engine house was built. The pipe was stretched along the streets. There was iron enough of the term House ought not be regarded as a doubtful question or one that can be controverted. The provision in regard to quorum is the same in both the constitutions of 1816 and 1850. For fifty-three years it has been recognized that a quoalong the streets. There was iron enough rum means two-thirds of all the Repre to have made twenty miles of palings or sentatives and Senators fixed by law. In the fronts of our "palatial" residences. There were lots of holes dug in the streets the last constitutional convention the for horse and man to fall into. There were small mountains of earth in every proposition to make a majority instead of were small mountains of earth in every street. Everything went on grandly, "But soon we found that our city fathers, or rather our water committe, were like Oliver Twist, who is famous for wanting 'some more;' or perhaps the lamented Lincoln would furnish a better example, for he wanted '230,000 more.' Our water committee have not been so hard on us as yet. They only require $150,000 more, making $450,000 in sil. So two-thirds, the same as in Congress, a quorum, was fairly hooted down, and yet in the face of these facts it is attempted to place a different conment! But we did not intend, when we commenced this article, to anticipate the $150,000 more, making $450,000 in all. So law was given them for that purpose

And those figures represent the a

Peoria is not more than half the size of Indianapolis, yet the "Holly" system of water works has already cost that city $450,000, and how much more nobody appears to have an idea. We suggest to the Council not only the propriety of a thorough investigation before these improvements are entered upon, but to dives them of the corrupting influences of partizan politics, and all suspicion, even, of "jobbing." This can be by placing the construction of these improvements in the charge of a Board of Commissioners, to be composed of the most substantial citizens, whose integrity is beyond suspicion-thorough business received for every dollar expended. A Board constituted of such gentiemen as SIMON YANDES, WM. HENDERSON, Judge MARTINDALE, JOHN FISHBACK, ALFRED HARRISON, A. E. VINTON, JOHN CAR L.SLE, ALBERT G. PORTER, GEORGE Tousey, John M. Lord, John many others that we would enumerate, would give confidence that the improvements would be economically and thoroughly constructed-that the inthe city would be closely watched and carefully protected. We do not wish it understood, in making this suggestion, that we intend to impeach the integrity of any member of the Council, but simply to remove the subject as far as possible from the contamination of partisan politics.

We protest however, and, in so doing, we represent the feelings of a large portion, a large majority, we may say, of the property owners for city improvements, tax payers of the city against any hasty and the ruling of the court, if sustained, or inconsiderate action upon matters of so much moment as water works and sing property for improvements. Festival-Dedication of N

Hall - Oration - A Large Turn-Out-Pleasant Social Reunion. COLUMBUS, INDIANA, June 25, 1867. EDITOR SENTINEL: Yesterday was grand day here for the members of the Masonic order. The members of St. John's Lodge No. 20, Free and Accepted Masons, having refitted their hall, gave estival in dedication of it, which was participated in by large numbers of Masons from Rushville, Shelbyville, India-nopolis, Franklin and other towns of this section of the State. It has been the grandest affair of the kind ever witnessed grandest affair of the kind ever witnessed in this enterprising little city, and its great success reflects credit upon the energy and thoughtfulness of the members of St. John's Lodge.

At about two o'clock, after all the delegations of Masons from adjoining Lodges had arrived, the Order formed in procession in front of their hall, and headed by the Germania brass band, of this city, and Gresh's brass band, of your city, proceeded to she Methodist church, where a most eloquent and interesting oration was delivered by Sir Knight John N. Kerr, of St. John's Lodge. The oration occupied about an hour in its delivery, and was listened to by a very large audience of our citizens, comprising the beauty, wealth and intelligence of the city, all of whom speak in unbounded terms of its merits. Upon the conclusion of the oration the Masons returned to the Lodge, and soon after dispersed, the members of the foreign Lodges taking the evening trains home.

At eight o'clock P. M. the hall was "Seldom has the Supreme Court been called upon to listen to an abler argument than that of Judge Perkins upon this question. It was in its argument, both upon principle and authority, absolutely conclusive. The Judge maintained that a quorum was two-thirds of the House when full, or when composed of one hundred members. This he established by the clear preponderance of legislative doctrines upon the question, and by an overwhelming array of judicial decisions made by the courts. He had evidently been amongst the books, for he seemed to have collected everything pertinent to the question."

the foreign Louges taking the evening trains home.

At eight o'clock P. M. the hall was thrown open, and was very soon filled by a large and select gathering of the old and young of the city, who spent the evening in promenading through the hall, admiring the beauty and magnificence of its furnishing. An excellent supper had been set under the supervision of the ladles of the city, and during the evening the visitors did severe justice to it, and from the length of time some tarried at the table it was evident they thought it a repast fit for the gods—or

At twelve o'clock the party dispersed, all, as they wended their way home, declared that it had been the most pleasant occasion of the kind they had ever participated in, and wishing that St. John's Lodge No. 20, Free and Accepted Masons, had a hall to dedicate several times a year. year.
Teo much praise can not be given the members of the order, and the ladies of the city, who so ably assisted them for the success of this social gathering. It will remain a pleasant recollection in the minds of all who were present. W.

From the time of reaching Darlington until his death, the prisoner was pertectly cool. Early this morning he said, "I do not think I'll be hung, as I belong to a league, the members of which are sworn to protect each other; and I do not believe the result of the protect was the burner." Whenever to protect each other, and I do not believe they will let me be hung." Whenever a noise was made the prisoner would turn suddenly in the direction of it with a beaming countenance, as if he thought it was the noise of a rescuing party. He prayed with the ministers, and expressed himself late in the day as being converted. Previous to this he said that he was sorry Governor Scott had respited him; it did harm him, as he had commenced to make his peace with Jesus, but as soon as he heard that he thought he was going to get clear, he stopped praying right short off.

Fish Breeding.

We some time ago gave an account, abridged from the Globe, of a very interesting experiment which has lately been made by a gentleman named Wilmot in the township of Clarke, on the shores of lake Outside to be the lake Outside to be set the Mr. Wilmot. Lake Ontario, to breed fish. Mr. Wilmot has tried his hand with salmon and with commenced this article, to anticipate the conclusive argument of Major Gordon against the infamous proposition of Morron's "law of quorums" as applied to the plain intent of the constitution of Indiana, for it can only be maintained by the virtual abolition of the organic law of the State.

Russ Once More.

In our article, in Saturday's issue, upon the Black Crook parson, there were two minor errors in our statement of facts. who has been trying new experiments whose services will be useful to the pubwhose services will be useful to the public as well as themselves, but of whom few will meet with Government officers to recommend that they should receive a special reward. However, apart from that, there are several interesting matters connected with this question of fish breeding.

First of all, it is reported that the salmon in Mr. Wilmot's ponds are the true "salmo salar." Now, it is understood that this fish requires yearly to visit the salt water—at all events will do so whenever he is in any water which affords ac-salt water—at all events will do so whenever he is in any water which affords access to the sea; for there is, we believe, a question whether, if inclosed in fresh water, the salmon will not still survive, though in a degenerate condition. The writer is not a great naturalist; but many years ago he used to see at the same time upon the tables of the Toronto hotels, and in the markets, two fish—one the lake salmon and the other the true salmon, though caught in Lake Ontario. No great difference was perceptible between the two, except that the true salmon was in all respects what may be called a more intense fish than the lake salmon—brighter of scale, redder of hue, firmer of flesh, and more highly flavored. So far as could be learned, the true saland in the markets, two fish—one the lake salmon and the other the true salmon, though caught in Jake Ontario. No great difference was perceptible between the two, except that the true salmon was in all respects what may be called a more intense fish than the lake salmon—brighter of scale, redder of hee, firmer of flesh, and more highly flavored. So far as could be learned, the true salmon was usually caught in one particular part of the lake; but what appeared to be particularly curious was that these fish should appear at this place in sufficient numbers to afford a regular market supply, and should yearly go and return from the sea, while salmon, once plentiful in most of the tributaries of the St. Lawrence, were not heard of on that river anywhere much above Quebec.

We should like to know as a matter of curiosity whether Mr. Wilmot's old fish contrived to get to his place from the sea, and whether the young ones will go to the sea when they grow up; and again whether if they do, they will travel as unobtrusively as the salmon on which the writer used to dine, or whether they will afford any opportunity for adventurpus lishermen to intercept them on their passage. We write on the subject in a degree of obscurity, which we hear may excite the contempt of some of our able correspondents who have formerly "ventilated" the question of salmon catching in the Lower St. Lawrence; but we dare say that some of our readers may be as ignorant as ourselves and be willing to have light on the subject, especially if there he any chance of repeopling the many streams which tradition, and their very names, indicate to have heen once the resort of the salmon. As to the white fish, we suppose that there can be no constitution. As to the white fish, we suppose that there can be not the salmon on the first of the soldiers at Indianapolis, that we will willingly join them, and all backers of the callotted age of man, three socre and ten. Two of the number eight of the allotted age of man, three socre and ten. Two of the number many streams which tradition, and their very names, indicate to have been once the resort of the salmon. As to the white fish, we suppose that there can be no great difficulty about breeding them, according to the methods so frequently described, nor in their obtaining such life on the lake as the chance of premature capture may afford.

—The Attica Ladger says: From Covington comes the gratifying and surprising intelligence that there is now some slight hope of the recovery of Miss Beckleheimer, shot by the villain Remster. The ball passed in back of the ear, and has not yet been found. The young lady complains of pain and soreness on the side of her head opposite where the ball entered, and her sight is seriously impaired. It is thought that probably the ball is lodged at the point where Miss B. now suffers. The idea of this young lady living with a bullet in her brain seems preposterous, but she is living, and slightly improving.

CROPS IN ALLEN COUNTY.—Mr. Nelson, President of the Allen County Agricultural Society, makes the following reliable report of crops in Allen county: "The prospect of the wheat crop was never better than at present. Oats look very fine—best prospect for years. Flax is doing tolerably well, but the wet weather has not been propitious to its growth Corn has suffered more or less by rains. That upon the river bottom has been drowned out; that upon heavy clay did not come up well, and has been replanted; and if a favorable season follows we expect an average crop. Potatoes look well. The Colorado bug is reported to have made its appearance in large numbers. If so, the crop will be seriously injured and may be nearly destroyed. Apples are over the average. All other fruits are quite abundant, except peaches."

LEAD AND COPPER ORE FOUND IN WARENEY COUNTY.

LEAD AND COPPER ORE FOUND IN WARREN COUNTY.—A few days since, a farmer named Gunckel, living a short distance below Pine Village, Warren county, on the road leading to Attics, made some rather surprising discoveries of lead and copper ore. Mr. G. was plowing, and, at a point where a large tree had been uprooted by the wind, his plow turned up some ore, which he brought to town, and,
on examination and test at Scribner's jewelry store, it proved to be almost pure lead of excellent quality. Mr. G. also found some copper, specimens of which he has at home. The stratum in which the ore is found is six feet wide, but Mr.
Gunckel does not know how far it runs or how deep it is. Further examination will be made, when we will be enabled to make a fuller report. LEAD AND COPPER ORE FOUND IN WAR-will be made, when we will be enabled to make a fuller report.

The finding of lead ore in Warren is not altogether new, as we have heard of several discoveries years ago, but nothing yet in paying quantities. It remains to be seen how extensive this new mine is. There is an old tradition in Warren, left by the Indians, that there is a mine of almost pure lead in the county, where the red men used to get their material for bullets. But the secret has been so well kept that nothing definite is known, though old settlers express themselves satisfied of the existence of the mine as represented. Land has been leased across the river several times for lead mining, and lead found, but we believe no thorough investigation has ever been

The Washington correspondent of the New York World furnishes that paper with the following Statement of Edman Spangler, who was tried and sentenced by a military commission in May, 1865, on a charge of being engaged in the plot to assassinate President Lincoln, and pardoned by President Johnson:

STATEMENT OF EDMAN SPANGLER.

STATEMENT OF EDMAN SPANGLER.

I have deemed it due to truth to prepare for publication the following statement—at a time when I hope the temper of the people will give me a patient hearing—of my arrest, trial and imprisonment, for alleged complicity in the plot to assassinate President Lincoln. I have suffered much, but I solemnly assert now, as I always have since I was arraiged for trial at the Washington Arsenal, that I was entirely innocent of any fore or after knowledge of the crime which John Wilkes Booth committed—save what I knew in common with everybody after it took place. I further solemnly assert that John Wilkes Booth or any other person, never mentioned to me any plot, or intimation of plot, for the abduction or assassination of President Lincoln; that I did not know when Booth leaped from the box to the stage at the theatre, that he had shot Mr. Lincoln; and that I did not, in any way, so help me God, assist in his escape; and I further declare that I am entirely innocent of any and all charges made against me in that connection.

so help me God, assist in his escape; and I further declare that I am entirely innocent of any and all charges made against me in that connection.

I never knew either Surratt, Payne, Atzerodt, Arnold or Harold, or any of the so-called conspirators, nor did I ever see any of them till they appeared in custody. While imprisoned with Atzerodt, Payne and Harold, and after their trial was over, I was allowed a few minutes' exercise in the prison yard. I heard the three unite in asserting Mrs. Surratt's entire innocence, and acknowledge their own guilt, confining the crime, as they did, entirely to themselves, but implicating the witness, Welchman, in knowledge of the original plot to abduct! and with furnishing information from the Commissary of Prisoners' Department, where Welchman was a clerk.

I was arrested on the morning of the 15th of April, 1865, and with Ritterspaugh (also a scene shifter), taken to the police station on E street, between Ninth and Tenth. The sergeant, after questioning me closely, went with two policemen to search for Peanut John (the name of the boy who held Booth's horse the night betore), and made to accompany us to the headquarters of the police on Tenth street, where John and I were locked up, and Ritterspaugh was released. After four hours' continement, I was released arteet, where John and I were locked up, and Ritterspaugh was released. After four hours' continement, I was released and brought before Judge Olin and Bingham, and told them of Booth bringing his horse to the theater on the 14th of April (1865). After this investigation, I said: "What is to be done with me?" and they replied: "We know where to find you when you are wanted," and ordered my release. I returned to the theater, where I remained until Saturday, when the soldiers took possession of it; but as the officer of the guard gave an attache and myself a pass to sieep there, we retired at ten r. M., and at I. A. M. a guard was placed over me, who remained until 9 A. M. Sunday morning, when I was released. I did not leave the theater until Sunday evening, and on our return this attache (Carlton by name) and myself were arrested by Detective Lanar. turn this attache (Carlton by name) and myself were arrested by Detective Lanar. Instead of taking us to the guard-house he said he would accompany us home to sleep there, but we all went to police headquarters on Tenth street, and when Carlton asked if we were wanted, an officer sharply said "No." I returned to the theater that night, and remained the next day till I went to dinner, corner Seventh and G streets. That over I remained a few minutes, when Ritterspaugh (who worked at the theater with me) came, and meeting me, said: "I have given my evidence, and would like now to get some of the reward."

I walked out with Ritterspaugh for half an hour, and on returning to lie down, left word that if any one called for me, to tell them that I was lying down. ing yet in paying quantities. We must confess to a slight degree of surprise on their first exhibition. We honestly thought they were cariculars blankets, with two soldiers guarding the blankets, with two soldiers guarding the door. I was kept there for three days. I had been thus confined three days on the vessel when Captain Munroe came to me and said: "Spangler, I've something that must be told, but you must not be frightened. We have orders from the Secretary of War, who must be obeyed, to put a bag on your head."

Then two men came and tied up my head so securely that I could not see daylight. I had plenty of food, but could not eat with my face muffled up. True, there was a small hole in the bag near my mouth, but I could not reach that, as my hands were wedged down by iron. At last, two kind-hearted soldiers took compassion on me, and while one watched At last, two kind-hearted soldiers took compassion on me, and while one watched the other fed me. On Saturday night a man came to me, and after drawing the bag so tight as to nearly sunfocate me, said to the guard, "Don't let him go to sleep, as we will carry him cut to hang him directly." I heard him go up on the deck, when there was a great rattling of chains, and other noises; and while I was trying to imagine what was going on, and what they intended to do, I was dragged out by two men, who both pulled me at times in different directions.

We, however, reached a boat, in which

We, however, reached a boat, in which I was placed, and were rowed a short distance. I could not say then where we stopped, for my face was still covered. After leaving the boat, I was forced to walk some distance with the heavy irons still on my legs. I was then suddenly stopped, and made to ascend three or four flights of stairs; and as I stood at the top waiting, some one struck me a severe blow on the top of the head, which stunned and half threw me over, when I was pushed into a small room, where I remained in an unconscious condition for several hours. The next morning some one came with bread and coffee. I remained here for several days, suffering torture from the lag or made for the form the region of the lags. one came with bread and coffee. some hours after General Hartranft came to me and read to me several charges; that I was engaged in a plot to assassinate the President; and the day following I was carried into a military court and still hooded before all of its members. I remained but a short time when I was returned to my cell for another night and day, and then again presented in this court. Mr. Bingham, Assistant Judge Advocate, read the charges against me, and asked if I had any objection to the court, and I replied "No," and made my plea of "not guilty." They then wished to know if I desired counsel, and when I answered animmatively, General Huntey, the President of the court, insisted that I should not be allowed counsel. He was, however, overruled, but it was several days before I was permitted legal ald, the court in the meanwhile taking evidence with closed doors. On every adjournment of the court, if only for an hour, I was returned to my cell and the closely-fitting hood placed over my head. This continued till June 10, 1865, when I was relieved from the torture of the bag, but my hands and limbs remained heavily manacied.

On one Sunday, while I was confined at this place (the Washington Arsenal). Trial for Libel at Buffalo.

The New York Commercial says: "The libel suit at Buffalo, of Patterson against the Rochester Union, has resulted in the verdict of 'no cause of action." The case arose out of the publication of a telegraphic dispatch, in which it is claimed that the plaintiff was charged with crime. The same dispatch was published, we believe, in all the papers of the Stata connected with the Associated Press. We congratulate the Union upon this auspicious result, and hope that it need not stand the costs of this long and vexatious litigation." The verdict was right and righteous—"no cause of action." The jury were satisfied that there was no malice on the part of the defendant, and that the suit was intended merely as a money speculation or the gratification of malice, and they had too much respect for justice and the well-being of the community to let themselves be used for any such unworthy and scandalous purposes. The decision in the Buffalo case is fit to be a lesson in other cities. The malice in the libel case is quite as frequently. Some hours after General Hartranf The decision in the Buffalo case is fit to be a lesson in other cities. The malice in libel cases is quite as frequently on the side of plaintiffs as on that of defendants, and quite as deserving of punishment. There are tens of thousands of persons in the country who would gladly pay largely to get themselves "libeled" through the misprinting of words.

Inmis remained heavily manacled.

On one Sunday, while I was confined at this place (the Washington Arsenal), I was visited by a gentleman of middle stature, rather stout, with full beard and gold-framed spectacias. He noticed my manacles and padded head. I afterward learned that he was Mr. Stanton, the Secretary of War. It is proper to state that when the hood was placed on me, Captain Munroe said it was by order of the Secretaryof War. My first thought was that I was to be hung without trial, and the hood was preparatory to that act.

The first time I ever saw Mrs. Surratt was in the Carroll Prison yard, on Capitol Hill. I did not see her again until we were taken into court the first day at the arsenal. My call was on the same corridor with hers, and I had to pass it every time I was taken into court. I frequently looked into her cell, a small room about four feet wide by seven feet long. The only things in the cell was an old mattrees laid on the bricks and an army blanket. I could see the irons on her feet, as she was generally lying on honestly thought they were caricatures to increase the sale of the slight flummery to increase the sale of the sight hummery structures of feathers and flowers perched on pedestals around them. We saw one tried on; we thought it hideous, and wondered if any sane person would dare to make an appearance in such uncouth guise; but in fifteen minutes we had become a convert to the new style, and after a second examination of the fashion plates, we found them absolutely charming and the prottiest broad brims under the sun?

We hardly dare give the dimensions, lest our readers should be alarmed at the sudden expansion, but we think a moderate estimate of the diameter is not far from eighteen inches, one of the hats which we saw was made of a delicate and flexible black straw, caught up on the left side with a large rosette of broad black ribbon, and with broad black strings to tie under the chignon. The distinguishing feature of the new fashion is the triuming of feathers rising above the rosette, and surmounting the crown. Feathers of blue, green, orange, crimson, and lavender waved gayly over the structure we are describing, and imparted to it a wonderfully stylish aspect, and made us feel as if some bewitching representative of a past age had stepped down from the picture frame which still preserved her earthly image.

Another hat was more simply trimmed, with a binding of lavender, and rosettes and broad strings of alternate pink and lavender, without feathers. We are told that the most fashionable style displays pranching plumes, which, in number and tint, represent the seven colors of the rainbow, and that these have an irresistible power.

At least the fashion has the merit of novelty. Its utility commends it to all wearers; its becomingness bears the test of examination; its adaptation makes it appropriate for "mature syrens" and more youthful aspirants; and not the least of its recommendations is the opportunity it gives for using feathers, of every form and hue, laid aside for just such a revolution in the wheel of tashion as that which has made the seventeenth and mineteenth centuries jo structures of feathers and flowers perched Gas and Steam Fitters.

RAILWAY ITEMS.

The silver palace car Columbus, one of the cars to complete the Silver Palace car Line from Louisville to New York, as just been completed at Columbus, Ohio. The state rooms are magnificent, with dressing rooms and all modern improvements attached. At each end of the car are smoking rooms. The upholstering is all that could be desired, both as to style and comfort.

The lease, for one thousand years, of The lease, for one thousand years, of the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago Railroad, to the Pennsylvania Central Railroad Company, was on Wednesday consummated by the bond and stockholders of the corporation. Out of fifteen million dollars of the stock voted, only a single million was entered in the negative, and the principal part of that, it is thought, was polled by the President of the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago company, who is said to have consistently opposed the measure from its inception.

THE I. D. & C. R. R.-Enough has been said concerning this enterprise to arouse the people to action. Everything is now in working order, and the work has already beer commenced. We explain the work commenced, by saying that in the first place money had to be raised to pay for the survey. That has deen done; that is the commencement of en done: that is the com the work. The next thing in order is the survey, that will be commenced between the 1st and 6th of July. Judge Scher-merhora will leave for Indianapolis the nerhorn will leave for Indianapolis the rest of next week and accompany the reveyors along the line, to aid in securing the right of way, etc. Thus it will be een that the work on the Air Line has been actually commenced.—Delphi Times.

—A rousing meeting was held in Muncar Tugetay lest to consider the means. cie on Tuesday last to consider the means necessary to secure that point as the Eastern terminus of the road projected from Bloomington, Illinois, East via Lafayette. The attendance was exceedingly large, considering the present demands upon the time of farmers. The people have been fully alive to the great importance of securing Muncie as the terminus of the road. Judge Greene, of Tipton county, one of the counties through which the road will pass, made a forcible and telling speech, clearly setting forth the importance of the road, as a link connecting East and West trunk lines. He was followed by Judge Buckles, of Munnecting East and West trunk lines. He was followed by Judge Buckles, of Munspeech of one hour and a half, after which there was a unanimous pledge of a two per cent. tax upon the whole wealth of the county, and a cash subscription of forty-five thousand dol-lars.

Phillips' Provision Circular. CINCINNATI, June 25, 1869. Flour—There is a fair business doing with retailers, and the market rules firm and steady at the advance noted yesterday. We quote fancy trade brands at $6 2568; winter family, $5 7566; extra, $5 2565 00; superfine, $4 7566, and low grades, $4 2564 00; spring wheat flours are scarce and saleable at the same prices as winter flours. scarce and saleable at the same prices as winter flures.

Wheat—The offerings are again more liberal demand only moderate, and market dull and lower; scarcely any graded lots offered, but sample lots were not saleable except at about $1.2 for that equal to No. 2; $1.26 for that equal to No. 1, and $1.30 for choice. Some samples of the same prices are samples of the same prices as were samples of the same prices.

Provisions—There are but few orders here, and those few are at prices below the present views of those few are at prices below the present views of holders. There is no earlief to push stuff, but there are some sellers, and treessions are to be had, the prospect being that alless orders are made at prices now asked, holders will make the made at prices now asked, holders will make the necessary concessions soon.

Mess Pork—City brands usually held at $33, and some sold early at this, but $32.75 would probably buy some at the close, while buyers only offer $32.50. No country offered, Bulk Meats—Shoulders are held at 13c: rib sides at 16c: clear rib at 18%c, and clear at 17c, loose, but concessions of ½c are to be had, while cuyers ask ½c off. Bulk hams in light supply at 16c. loose.

FEARFUL DISCOVERY.

Are the Infernal Regions in Indiana?

Mr. A. Rabb, a farmer who resides about three miles west of the city, brought to harness, any day this week. The para strange story in on Saturday. Mr. R. has a son-in-law living on a farm about four miles from Latayette, named Mr. Miller. Mr. M. has a German laborer who, in plowing over a corn field, struck the upper crust of something very much like the infernal regions. A suffocating odor was first emitted, followed by dense volume of smoke. According to the German's statement, the stench was several degrees above the flavor of the Illinois street gutter. A sheet of flame soon burst from this terrible volcano, and a great conflagration was imminent for a time, but the flames were finally subdued by a few shovels full of earth tossed in taining some silver money, together with he mouth of the crater. The lava thrown out looked very much like Castile soaponly it was not so highly perfumed. On grass on the bank near the same place. the contrary, it was exceedingly offensive. Not liking the hospitalities of that institution they all gave bond for their appearance for trial in the city court this morning. INCENDIARISM .- The alarm of fire from box 1-4, about three o'clock Saturday afternoon, was caused by the burning of stable, on Massachusetts avenue, between New Jersey and East streets, beonging to W. W. Leathers. The fire, which was undoubtedly the work of an incendiary, was first discovered in the nay rack to the stalls, and it was with great difficulty that the fine span of horses and elegant carriage that were in entirely consumed. Loss between $200 and $400.

INDEPENDENCE DAY .- We understand that a number of the pastors of the city held a consultation on Sunday morning to consider the best course to pursue in regard to the celebration of the Fourth of July by our German fellow citizens. After considerable deliberation they concluded that any public protest or atempt to interfere with the matter would be impolitic, and therefore concluded to let the Germans spread their eagle according to the dictates of their own conscience.

The curtain fell on the first act in a nelo-drama on Friday night, and spoiled "stunning" sensation. Here is the plot: Chief clerk of a soda fountain passes a boarding house on west Ohio street-waves his cambric handkerchief at a young lady who is at the windowyoung lady grows indignant and tells her cousin-cousin calls the audacious clerk to account-they fight, and are separated-hostile meeting at the boarding house-cousin fires at clerk and misses him-exeunt clerk-tableaux.

The Mayor has instructed the police to disperse all parties of three or more, who may be found conversing on the street. This is enforcing the corner oafing ordinance with a vengeance. Inpassing the ordinance, the law makers, no doubt, were under the impression that it would be carried out with some degree of discretion and judgment. But according to the instructions of the Mayor, a party of three gentlemen meeting on the street will not be suffered to shake hands and stop long enough to ascertain the condition of each others health. Such administration of law wifl soon make our city

Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup.

Senemenck's Fullmonic Syrap.

Seawed Tonic and Mandrake Pills, will cure Consumption, Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, if taken according to the directions. They are all three to be taken at the same time. They cleanse the stomach, relax the liver, and put it to work; then the appetite becomes good, the tood digests and makes good blood; the patient begins to grow in flesh; the diseased matter ripens in the lungs, and the patient outgrows the disease and gets well. This is the only way to cure Consumption. rest and the lungs begin to heal.

To do this, the Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills must be freely used to cleanse the stomach and liver, so that the Pulmonic Syrup and the food will-make good bleod.

Schenck's Mandrake Pills act upon the liver removing all obstructions, relax the ducts of the gall bladder, the bile starts freely and the liver is soon relieved: the stools will show what the Pills can do; nothing has ever been invented except calone! (a deadly poison which is very dangerous to use unless with great care) that will unlock the gall bladder and start the secretions of the liver like Schenck's Mandrake Pills.

Schener's Seaweed Tonic is a gentle stimulant and alterative, and the alkali in the Scaweed, which this preparation is made of, assists the stomach to throw out the gastric juice to dissolve the food with the Pulmonic Syrup, and it is made into good blood without fermentation or souring it the atomach. in the stomach.

The great reason why physicians do not cure Consumption is, they try to do too much; they give medicine to stop the coughs, to stop chills, to stop night sweats, hectic fever, and by so doing they derange the whole digestive powers, ing they derange the whole digestive powers, locking up the secretions, and eventually the patient sinks and dies.

Dr. Schenck, in his treatment, does not try to stop a cough, night sweats, chills or fever. Remove the cause, and they will all stop of their ewn accord. No one can be cured of Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Canker, Ulcerated Throat, unless the liver and stomach are made healthy.

If a person has consumption, of course the mach are made healthy.

a person has consumption, of course the gr. in some way, are diveased, either tuber, abcesses, bronchial irritation, pleura adhei, or the lungs are a mass of inflammation and decaying.
